The purpose of this Information Notice is to announce the 5th Annual Green Community Colleges Summit to take place September 27-28, 2012 at the Pasadena Convention Center.

Gateways to the Green Economy

This Summit is focused on all aspects of this dynamic market – from green building and energy efficiency to the products and services that new green facilities will need. It also encompasses green job training; the needs of industry and the challenges of developing curriculum that meets these needs. The Summit has been designed to respond to these trends by creating a forum for essential topics such as:

- Helping students capture green employment opportunities
- Development of green curriculum
- Campuses as models of sustainable practices for their community

Among the many offerings in the community colleges education program there will be a full-day workshop on a unique Green Workforce and environmental science program, Developing Energy Efficiency Professionals (DEEP), which has been running with great success at three community colleges. DEEP engages students through paid internships and hands-on experience with campus-based projects. For further information see Green Workforce Track (Track 2):
